

NEWS

CORONA: Lakers' Jordan Clarkson shoots hoops with Boys & Girls Clubs children

The point guard was among the coaches at a youth basketball camp this week in Corona.

STAFF REPORT

Published: June 9, 2016 Updated: 2:00 p.m.

COURTESY OF BOYS & GIRLS CLUBS OF GREATER REDLANDS-RIVERSIDE

More than 20 children from the Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Redlands-Riverside got to shoot some hoops with Los Angeles Laker Jordan Clarkson this week.

The point guard also imparted some basketball tips.

A news release says East West Bank provided scholarships for club members, along with other young people from under-served communities, to attend the Nike JC6 Youth Basketball Camp in Corona, which started Monday, June 6 and ends Thursday. Clarkson, his father, Mike, representatives from the NBA and Nike and some college coaches helped run the camp, which focused on skill development for children ages 8-18.

Clarkson, 24, regularly attended the Boys & Girls Club growing up in San Antonio, Texas. He said in the news release he had a lot of fun playing basketball there with friends and the camp is a way for him to help children who might not otherwise have a chance to learn about the game.

Press-Enterprise